

Who Am I?

Ann Bauer

He asks the woman who he is to her.

She answers:

“Tall

honorable,

structured,

hungry,

harsh,

wise,

soft,

wounded,

Black.

The most generous lover I’ve ever known.”

The man has no doubt he is loved.

Ann Bauer has been writing for many years, with essays published in various small publishers. She is a member of Writers & Books, a literary organization in upstate New York. She conducts writing workshops for students at the urban campus of a community college. She resides in the Finger Lakes region of New York State.